In Granite City and Venice Sunday fires destroy 3 homes

GRANITE CITY — A fire that destroyed two West Granite homes early Sunday morning is "suspicious in nature and under investigation," according to Assistant Fire Chief Bob Bell.

The fire apparently started around midnight in a two-story house at 2133 Ohio Ave., occupied by Larry Kampmann and his family, and spread to the adjacent one-story house at 2133 Ohio, occupied by Grace Peterson. Both homes were completely destroyed, but none of the occupants, all home at the time, were injured, Bell said.

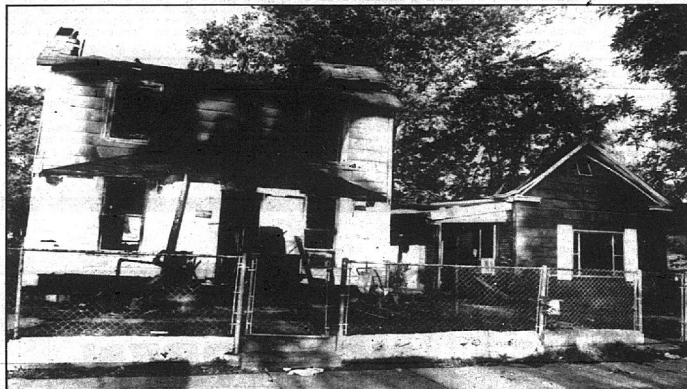

Bell said firefighters were on the scene from shortly after midnight until 4:30 a.m. Two firefighters suffered minor injuries, he said, one being treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and released and the other not requiring medical treatment.

Bell said all on-duty Granite City firefighters were at the scene and he called in six others to help fight the fires.

Total damage at the Peterson home was estimated at $25,000 and at the Kampmann home $45,000.

Bell said the Granite City department has finished its initial investigation and the case has been turned over to the State Fire Marshall.

Bell could not comment further on the investigation, but a police report indicated the fire was believed to have started near a bed in the home. A fire on Kerr Island on Sunday evening severely damaged the home of Willie Glasper at 210 Bremen Ave. Venice firefighters responded to the fire at 9:30 p.m.

The elderly couple are reported to have lost everything. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Venice seats new District 3 trustee

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

VENICE — The school board officially seated new trustee Janet Wiley Thursday night.

Wiley will fill the District 3 seat left when former board member Patricia King was removed last month by Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry Briggs Jr. for failing to attend most meetings throughout the first two years of her term. Wiley will serve for the remaining two years of that term.

"I am honored to serve on the school board," said Wiley at her installation.

"We're very glad to have you on board," replied board president William Glasper. The board approved a $2.4 million budget for the 1989-90 school year after a short public hearing that attracted no public comment.

In other business the board approved use of the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center by the Parents Plus program of Madison County, a division of the Students adapt to closed campus

By Meg Tebo

GRANITE CITY — The lament is the same in high schools across the land: "Cafeteria food is the pits."

It's heard at Granite City High School, too, but students have still adapted fairly well to the new closed-campus policy that requires them to remain on campus during lunch hours.

They are adapting, but not all of them like it. As one student put it: "It's not fair that we all get punished for the stupidity of a few."

The school board's decision to close the campus came after some students caused disturbances and snarled traffic near the school during lunch hours last school year. While many of the students interviewed expressed desire to still be allowed to cross Nameoki Road to get to fast food on the other side of the street, most seem to have come to terms with the new policy well enough to make short work of the burritos, pizza slices and salads handed out in the cafeteria.

Freshman Katrina Butler shrugged when asked how the system seemed to be working.

"I don't see anything wrong with it," she said. "But since I'm a freshman, I never knew what it was like to be able to go out."

A friend sitting at the same table disagreed, even though she, too, is a freshman.

A CLOSED CAMPUS means cafeteria lunches for twice the students this year.

"They tried this once before, didn't they? It didn't work then, so why try it again? They're punishing us all for a few air-heads' mistakes," said Amy Bobb.

One complaint voiced by some is that food sometimes runs out or appears picked-over by the last two of the five lunch periods.

The district has recently installed two additional soda machines and availability of most food items will improve also, according to Principal Ken Spaulding. The cafeteria is slowing getting a better idea of the number of items needed every day, he said.

Crowding is another complaint some students offered. The cafeteria seats about 515 students, and some lunch periods are assigned a little more than 500 students, so crowding may be a bit of a problem, but students appeared to have little trouble finding seats and none reported having to wait in line more than 10 minutes for their food, leaving at least 20 minutes to eat.

"Things are starting to go well," said cafeteria supervisor Nancy Wilson. "We're serving about 1,200 kids a day, where last year we served only about 800."

"I think it's going to work out. It's already going smoother than I thought it would," she said.

Costello's economic summit draws 550 in Collinsville

By Susan Draglich

COLLINSVILLE — Southwest Illinois has the potential for a successful economic future, but it will require leaders working together on a shared vision, an improved educational system and a sound infrastructure, several speakers said at U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello's all-day economic conference in Collinsville on Friday.

Leslie Stermann, director of East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, said Southwest Illinois will have no future to chart a course for if communities do not take the opportunity to work together.

"We cannot compete in the future at the rate we are going," said Stermann. "We have got to stop the intraregional competition and concentrate on working together to save the economy and the industry of Southwest Illinois."

About 550 people packed the Collinsville Holiday Inn's meeting hall Friday for the economic conference.

They included representatives of unions, businesses, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and local and state officials.

They filled the hotel's largest conference room, and a television was placed in an overflow seating room across the hall, allowing late arrivals to watch the proceedings.

The conference was entitled "Southwestern Illinois Looks to the Future: Charting a Course Toward the Year 2010."

Mayor hires street worker

Mayor Von Dee Cruse has abruptly challenged the authority of Street Department Superintendent Mac Warfield by personally hiring the newest departmental worker. Cruse sent Mark Whitaker, 22, son of 8th Ward Alderman Judy Whitaker, to Warfield with a letter stating he had already been hired and should start working immediately. The hiring prompted Warfield to request a closed session at the last City Council meeting. No one who attended the closed session will say exactly what went on inside, but several who attended it described it in terms of a championship bout.

MESD awaits federal funds

Efforts are continuing to free up $400,000 of federal money this month to finance improvement of gravity drains in Metro East. The U.S. government's fiscal year ends Sept. 30. Officials said they hope to have 1988-89 funds allocated within a few days so that flood control system rehabilitation can be started soon, in advance of more comprehensive phases of the rehab plan starting in 1990. Unclogging of gravity drains leading into the Mississippi River was selected by the St. Louis District of the Army Corps of Engineers to lead into a 1990-94 federal/state/local program endorsed by voters Feb. 28.

Gambling backer stresses benefits

By Jack Morgan
Staff writer

ALTON — State Sen. Denny Jacobs said he will focus on economic development this fall to urge Republican state legislators to support his riverboat gambling bill.

"Normally, when you talk economic development, Republicans sit up and take notice," Jacobs said.

The bill, which would allow casino cruise ships to dock at cities like Alton and Grafton, or possibly even Venice, passed the state Senate last spring but failed in the House of Representatives.

Jacobs, D-East Moline, said he would stick to the message that riverboat gambling means extra tax money for state and local governments.

Jacobs estimated that five cities will receive almost $28 million from wagering taxes and admission fees charged to each gambling ship passenger. Each city that hosts a riverboat gambling license during that first year will get a share of those revenues, he said.

Casino cruise ships could bring from $3 million to $6 million in total tax revenues to Alton next year, according to Jacobs' estimates.

... but opponents say they fear the worst

By Jack Morgan
Staff writer

ALTON — Opponents of a plan to allow riverboat gambling in Illinois said they are more concerned about the ills gambling could bring than the money it could yield to local economies.

"I would just as soon have a child that is unemployed than one that is corrupt," said Violet Kim of Godfrey during a recent public hearing. "We just don't want (gambling) at all, and we want to vote on it."

But state Sen. Denny Jacobs, an East Moline Democrat who sponsored the gambling bill, rejected the claim that riverboat gambling will lead to increased crime and moral decay.

About 30 people testified at the recent hearing before a panel of 14 state representatives and state senators, most of whom serve on the Legislature's riverboat gambling task force.

About 150 people attended the two-hour meeting at the Stratford Hotel, the first of four public hearings around the state on the controversial issue. There will be no other meetings in the Journal area.

State Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, said the bill includes strict regulations on who can receive a license to operate a casino cruise boat and how they can do business.

Gambling opponents also called for a referendum to let residents decide the issue.

About 10 witnesses on each side of the gambling issue spoke out on the proposal.

Riley B. "Benny" Harris, the president of the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers Growth Association, said the floating casinos could help maintain Alton's competitiveness as a tourist center.

Residents should view the riverboat gambling proposal as an economic issue, not a moral one, Harris said.

"Tourism is not a gamble but it is a competitive business," he said. "Economic development is not a gamble but it is a competitive business."

Alton could earn from $3 million to $6 million in tax revenues from riverboat gambling next year, Jacobs said. The estimate was based on figures collected by the Legislature's Economic Fiscal Commission, he said.

The gambling cruise boats could boost the economies of cities like Alton, which have lost thousands of industrial jobs in the past decade, Jacobs said.

"I honestly think that riverboat gambling is not a cure-all," Jacobs said. "But I think that riverboat gambling is an item that can help us get back on our economic feet while we are waiting for re-emergence of our industrial base."

plans to go ahead with riverboat gambling in 1991.

That means that if state officials refuse to allow riverboat gambling here, they will have casino cruise ships on their doorstep but won't get any of the economic benefits, Jacobs said.

"Our point is that it's there now," Jacobs said.

"If there's going to be any downside to this, it's going to be in Illinois anyway."

"If it's going to be there anyway, we better be sure that we get the upside, which is economic development."

Retailers praise new theft law

Retail merchants throughout Illinois are praising a new statute signed into law Sept. 1 by Gov. James R. Thompson.

It will help businesses recover rental merchandise from people who refuse to return it.

As the market for store rentals increases, particularly in the video and electronics industry, merchants have not been rising losses due to merchandise not being returned to stores. The law is contained in House Bill 1294.

"This new law affords retailers the same kind of protection for rentals that they now have under the Retail Theft Act for every other kind of shoplifting," said David F. Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

In the past, there was very little a store owner could do. The new legislation places the offense of "exerting unauthorized control over property" and "intending to deprive the owner permanently of property" under the Retail Theft Act, which affords civil action by the owner and easier prosecution as a criminal offense.

Motorcycles reported stolen

Two local residents reported Thursday their motorcycles had been stolen.

Robert L. Mull of the 2600 block of East 24th Street reported a yellow 1974 Suzuki motorcycle with a pink front fender was stolen from the rear yard at his residence. Mull said he had just purchased the machine.

Danny O. Steffens of the 4000 block of Kathy Drive reported his black 1986 Yamaha motorcycle was stolen from a carport at the rear of an address in the 1500 block of Niedringhaus Avenue.

A burglar entered Kokomo Tans Inc., 2126 Pontoon Road, and stole $58, three swimsuits valued at $108, four pairs of sunglasses worth $16 and three wrist watches valued at $126, it was reported Thursday.

Warrants served
Martin Dale Reeves, 31, of the 2500 block of Lincoln Avenue reported at the Granite City police station Thursday in response to two active warrants issued against him. The warrants alleged battery and failure to appear on an assault charge. He was released after posting $204 bail.

Detector missing
Jeff Hutchinson of the 2100 block of Dewey Avenue reported at 2:54 a.m. Friday that a burglar broke the driver's window of his 1989 Chevrolet and stole a radar detector valued at $200.

Theft from mailbox
Sharon Hahne of the 1300 block of Granite Avenue reported Thursday that a check for $209.89, mailed to her July 26 from Fredericktown, Mo., had been stolen from her mailbox and deposited in the bank account of another person. Postal authorities were notified of the theft, the report said.

Pontoon OKs lounge, annexations

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A new restaurant and lounge planned in the village was granted a business license Thursday night by the Board of Trustees.

Annexation of two parcels of property totaling 6.3 acres also was approved at the session, which was continued from the regular Tuesday night meeting.

Both tracts are located at the end of Shirwin Drive, north of the Arlington Heights subdivision, and will remain zoned agricultural.

Separate annexation petitions for 4.2 acres of land owned by Kelly Duko and 2.1 acres owned by Jerry W. and Barbara Lilley were approved. Both properties include easements and a portion of roadway.

Lilley informed the trustees that he is planning to construct a single-family dwelling on his property.

The business license approved was sought by Denise Ball and Paul Ball of 22 Mallard Drive, Pontoon Beach, for W & B Inc. to operate a restaurant and lounge at 3674 Illinois Route 111.

The license application was signed by Janet Spiroff of Pontoon Beach as secretary.

Denise Ball said the business enterprise will be located in an established building owned by Kelly Hogan Plumbing Co.

"We will have 5,300 square feet of space in the building," she said Thursday. Extensive renovations will be made before the lounge opens, she said.

"We'd like to get started as soon as possible on the building, but we don't want to put all this money in there and not get a license," Ball said.

She asked the board about the availability of a liquor license and was told by Mayor Glen Wilson that one liquor license still remains unassigned under the present ordinance, which limits the number of licenses to 10 Class A licenses.

"We may have to look at the ordinance, as we may need more licenses," Wilson said.

The mayor, who serves as liquor commissioner, said the ordinance could be amended to raise the present number if necessary.

The business license application was first presented to the board at Tuesday's meeting but approval was withheld because the name of Thomas Watts, a Pontoon Beach police officer, was listed in the corporate structure.

The question became moot when Watts' name was removed from the revised application presented Thursday.

In other business Thursday, the trustees agreed to get a review of current insurance policies for the Village Hall and Senior Citizens Building.

The Village Hall was recently reappraised and the present coverage may not be sufficient, said Trustee Bob Douglas.

He also asked that the cost of earthquake insurance be investigated and that coverage on building contents be updated. He agreed to meet with the insurance representative to get preliminary cost estimates.

Venice transfers real estate funds

VENICE — The City Council passed two related financial resolutions Sept. 12 to deal with its chronic financial woes.

One resolution transferred $108,145 in 1988 real estate taxes (recently received from Madison County for the city's general corporate fund) into its working cash fund, as required by law.

The other resolution then transferred the money back into the general fund, in order to pay debts and obligations. The language of the resolution said the city has "insufficient monies in its general corporate fund."

The city now owes $421,000 to the working cash fund.

The council discussed the status of attempts to get liability insurance on the Venice boat ramp, located on Union Electric property north of the McKinley Bridge. Echols said $1 million worth of insurance was required and would cost $5,000 per year in premiums.

If the city does not get insurance this year, it will have to repay a grant of $50,000 from the Illinois Department of Conservation to improve the ramp.

"I've got a $58,000 hammer hanging over my head," Echols said. No action was taken on the matter.

Shriners to sell papers

A special-edition Shriner Hospital newspaper will be distributed by Nobles of Ainald Shrine Temple on Saturday, Sept. 23. The paper will explain the work being done by Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

The hospital network is made up of 22 hospitals — 19 orthopedic and three burn units. All treatment is provided free of charge. Approximately 8,500 Ainald members will be standing on street corners and at entrances of business distributing the newspapers.

CPR techniques class here

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering a CPR techniques class (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) at the Going Strong Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St. in Granite City.

The class will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 26, from 6 to 10 p.m. The class is open to the community. Participants will learn basic life support, Course A (1-rescuer adult CPR and adult obstructed airway). Cost is $5 per person. Pre-registration is required.

To register or for more information, the Wellness Center can be called at 798-3WEL.

Border collies to compete

Eckert Orchards in Belleville will again be the site of a unique purebred dog competition when it hosts the 11th annual U.S. Border Collie Handlers' Association (USBCHA) National Finals Sept. 21-24.

This national competition, sponsored by Ralston Purina Co., is the pinnacle of nearly 150 regional qualifying competitions. The dogs must accumulate enough points in these qualifying rounds to gain an invitation to compete in the national championship for the title "best field trial border collie."

Ralston Purina is providing $6,000 in prize money. First prize is $1,800, with $1,200 for second place, $900 for third place and $300 each for the 4th through 10th place finishers.

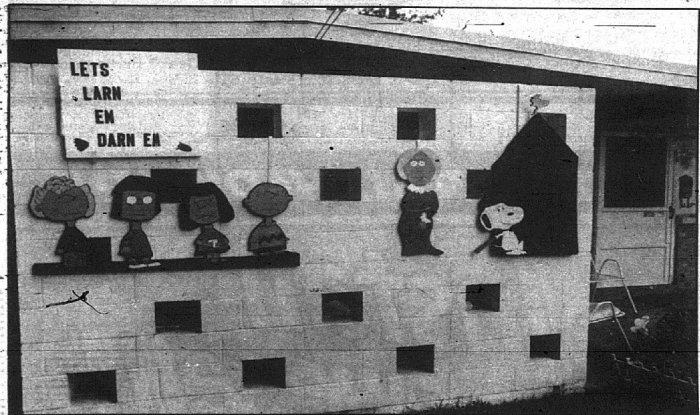

Eckert's, as in past years, is converting an enclosed 30-acre area, at the intersection of Illinois Route 15 and Greenmont Road, 15 miles east of downtown St. Louis, into a course designed to test approximately 40 of the best sheep-handling dogs in America. The border collies are tested for their ability to perform in four phases of work related to the herding of sheep: to gather, drive, pen and shed sheep.

Allan Leak of Cumby, England brings more than 30 years of experience with the breed to judge the competition.

The Ainald Shriners of Southern Illinois will provide entertainment at the noon hour on both Saturday and Sunday of the event. Tentative plans include a magic show, a brass band, a drum corp and clowns. There will also be demonstrations of the border collies herding ducks — a traditional favorite of children — instead of sheep, in addition to sheep-shearing presentations. Refreshments will be available on all four days.

Ticket price is $3 per event or $5 for an all-event ticket covering all four days. Children under 12 are admitted free at all times. The competition runs daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. All proceeds benefit the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in St. Louis.

For more information, call 233-0513.

The senior citizen A new column debuts for our local seniors

(Editor's note: Welcome to the Journal's new column, "Silver and Gold.")

Author Gerrie Gibson is a Pontoon Beach resident. She is a full-time licensed practical nurse with the Norrell agency in Fairview Heights and deals with seniors citizens on a regular basis. A mother of four, she was born in the East St. Louis area and then relocated to this area where she has lived in this region for the last 30 years. Her children are Pamela of Madison, Janice of University City, Mo., Joyce of Maple, Ariz. and Jeff of Jefferson City, Mo.

She enjoys reading, and says she stays busy "all the time." She will be contributing this column of senior citizen interest on a regular basis.)

The Kirkpatrick Homes Golden Agers met on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at the Kirkpatrick Reception Hall for their monthly potluck luncheon. It was a chili dinner sponsored by Irwin Chapel. Approximately half of the membership was present.

The Golden Circle, one of the oldest senior citizen groups, began in 1952 with five couples. The membership meets on the second and the fourth Tuesday of each month honoring birthdays, playing bingo and cards.

Birthdays honored during the September meeting were: Ruby Corbitt, Grace Pudock, Marti Schultz, Peggy Gibbons, Mildred Moss and Nelda Brnardi.

Golden Circle officers are: president, Francis Bringer; vice president, Martin Schultz; secretary/treasurer, Carrie Hart; and Sunshine Girl, Caroline Lux. The Circle is planning a banquet on Oct. 17 at Jerry's Cafeteria at 5 p.m.

It was announced that the Granite City Council of Seniors will be hosting a dance on Monday, Sept. 25 at the Township Hall. The Council is also requesting jewelry and personal items for friends at area nursing homes. For more information, members are asked to call the Council at 677-1215 on Fridays between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Volunteers are needed on Fridays between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. to answer phones at the Township Hall. If interested, call Gertrude Boskey at 677-1215. If you can work one Friday a month, it would be greatly appreciated.

Other volunteers are needed to assist seniors with shopping, car entry, auto repair and other miscellaneous tasks. If interested call Boskey at 677-1215 or me at 797-1948 between 8 a.m. and noon.

The Granite City Senior Council will go apple-picking on Tuesday, Sept. 26. The cost will be $3 and reservations may be made by calling Juanita Crawley at 677-1215.

The search is on for folks 55 and older who would like to bowl in a league at Granite City Bowl, 3701 Nameski Road, on Monday or Wednesday, at 12:30 p.m.

For further information, contact the bowling alley at 451-7800.

The nine senior board members appointed by Nelson Hagauer will meet at City Hall at 3 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 21.

The Young at Heart organization at Holy Family Catholic Church held a potluck on Monday, Sept. 18, and on Sept. 19 toured Historic St. Charles, Mo., and took a cruise on the Spirit of St. Charles.

For those of you who take medication, let me tell you about the containers that are marked with the days of the week and the times at which your medication is to be taken. You, or someone else, can set-up your medicine for a week at a time. All you have to do is pop open the shutter and take the appropriate dosage without confusion. There are also medication boxes available that have a timer or alarm for those of us who might forget the time we should take our medicine.

Seniors: I would like to have your calendar of events and items of interest, including donations, questions or volunteering. I can be reached any day, except Wednesday, from 8 a.m. to noon, or leave a message and I will get back with you as soon as possible.

Summit

Its impressive list of speakers included U.S. Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and U.S. Rep. William Gray, House whip.

Stermann agreed with another speaker, Earl Lazerson, SUE president, that the main priority of this region should be education.

"Our primary goal should demand that our youngsters be educated to their fullest ability," said Lazerson. "If we cannot provide our children with education the results will be chaotic." He said the communities need to strengthen and support the education apparatus that is at their disposal.

"If we can come up with an agenda that is acceptable to all ages, clear in priorities, and can be organized, we will move this region forward," Lazerson said.

Another speaker, Bob Hardy, news anchor for KMOX radio, has been a resident of Southwestern Illinois for 40 years.

He said many St. Louisans refer to East St. Louis as an "illit playground" although the general perception of the East Side changes when they get to communities like Edwardsville, Belleville, Collinsville and Alton.

Hardy said the east side of the Mississippi River, opposite St. Louis is looking up as far as industry, transportation and construction are concerned, and needs to be recognized.

"If we are supposed to believe in what we see and what we're told, then it's better to show and tell time," Hardy said.

In response to Hardy's comments, State Rep. Wyvetter Young, a Democrat from East St. Louis, spoke out in defense of her city, saying that the surrounding region shares the responsibility for what East St. Louis is.

"It is necessary for us to realize that we have all created East St. Louis governmentally, economically, culturally, and educationally and it is time to put racism behind us," said Young.

Several speakers stressed the importance of a quality educational system for this region's future success.

The current educational system is lacking, according to Wallace Bierman, research and analysis manager with the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

"There's no way the economy of this state and nation is going to exist very long with the educational system in its current state," Bierman said.

Solving the educational system's deficiencies does not necessarily mean simply giving it more money, Bierman said. Drastic innovations need to be made, using the current financial resources, he said.

Donald Elliott, an SUE professor of economics, said education will be essential to attract

Rostenkowski: Increase gas tax, reduce deficit

By Ed Gurney
Staff writer

COLLINSVILLE — U.S. Rep. Dan Rostenkowski was booed roundly by those attending a regional economic conference here Friday, but the jeers were not in response to his gloomy review of the deficit and the possible need for a tax increase.

Rostenkowski drew jeers when he mentioned that the baseball playoffs this year may be held in Wrigley Field rather than Busch Stadium.

Wrigley Field is in Democrat Rostenkowski's district and he is a Cubs fan.

Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which oversees most federal spending programs, he is also chairman new industry to Southwestern Illinois.

Collaboration will also be an important element for the success of Southwestern Illinois' future, the speakers said.

Elliott said the region has great resources and strong industries. But it's also marked by highly fragmented groups looking out for their own interests, he said.

Individual governments and agencies will need to develop a common vision to work together for the region's benefit, Elliott said.

Gregory Baise, Illinois secretary of Transportation, said cooperation is also needed with St. Louis. For example, Illinois officials should stand behind plans to expand Lambert Airport in St. Louis County, he said.

Baise said he also fully supports the proposal to convert Scott Air Force Base into a joint-use facility and said it will be a major factor in the region's future success.

"We cannot allow that opportunity to slip away from us," Baise said.

Noting the large attendance at the conference, Baise said, "I think the will is here, and the of the joint Senate-House committee on taxation.

Members of Congress need to develop a fair tax bill that will begin reducing the governmental deficit while allocating more money for social programs affecting children, Rostenkowski said.

He advocated an increase in the federal gasoline tax. "I don't advocate a tax increase so we can continue a spending spree. Most of the revenue should go for deficit reduction," he said.

The federal deficit has increased to $2.6 trillion from $908 billion since Ronald Reagan was elected president in 1980, he said.

"Our willingness to saddle our future is very bright for this part of the state."

Baise said infrastructure repair will become one of the most critical issues facing the nation and Southwestern Illinois. He said the country's infrastructure is a "ticking time bomb."

Maintaining Southwestern Illinois' infrastructure will be an important link in its potential for economic development, Baise said.

Costello, in closing remarks, said he was impressed with the quality and depth of the present-children and their children with this deficit is totally outrageous," Rostenkowski said.

"There is a tendency to concentrate only on the immediate consequences.

"Unless it is reversed, we're going to collectively pay for it," Rostenkowski said. "Young families are consuming, not saving. Management is not making investments for the future. Politicians are more interested in getting on the evening news than in governing."

"The deficit provides a wonderful fog that obscures problems we should be addressing, such as homelessness and the fact that millions of people lack health insurance."

He pointed to the poverty rate affecting children. Benefits to dependent children and food stamp benefits have been cut since 1978, he said.

Meanwhile, in the last eight years, the real increase in income of the top 20 percent of the population exceeded all the income of the poorest 20 percent, Rostenkowski said.

He called on those attending the seminar to support the efforts of members of Congress in making tough decisions.

"If you demand that your elected officials protect your narrow interests, they will. But they will protect every other interest, too. That results in economic paralysis," he said.

Costello, a Democrat from Belleville, announced that he and his staff plan another conference for his Congressional district, focusing on the needs of small businesses. It is likely to be held in March 1990, he said.

Costello, in closing remarks, said he was impressed with the quality and depth of the presentations.

"This is the first time we have been able to bring together such a variety of concerned individuals in one room," Costello said.

He said that if this region builds on the relationship that started at the conference Friday, it is sure to benefit.

Bill prohibits certain political contributions

Gov. James R. Thompson recently vetoed legislation that would have removed prohibitions on political contributions by insurance companies and horse-racing organizations.

"There are substantial public policy reasons for the existing prohibitions against race tracks and insurance companies making political contributions," Thompson said in his veto message of House Bill 2217. "Both provisions were enacted as a result of prior scandals and abuses of this privilege and as one who was personally involved in riding Illinois through some of these problems, I firmly believe that our state simply cannot tolerate a repetition of these scandals."

Although a majority of the organizations in those businesses would make political contributions "with the utmost integrity and good faith," Thompson said, the close regulation of those industries by state government absent any concurrent federal legislation placed them in a unique situation.

"Where the state has extraordinary control over every aspect of a company's livelihood, the opportunity for misunderstanding or abuse by unscrupulous operators is greatly enhanced," he said.

In other action, Thompson signed the following legislation: House Bill 39 and Senate Bill 39 will permit the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) to establish emergency overnight shelters for homeless youth. Both bills give DCFS the responsibility of licensing youth emergency shelters, which will provide overnight shelter and referral for other services to homeless youth.

The Governor's Office, DCFS and advocacy groups are studying the potential solutions to the problem of homeless youths, and the bills will allow DCFS to implement demonstration projects creating youth emergency shelters. Both bills are effective Jan. 1, 1990.

The bill recognizes that children often are the real victims of the divorce and is aimed at instructing parents on how to help their children cope with changes that accompany divorce.

It is effective Jan. 1, 1990.

EDWARDSVILLE — A Granite City man who was convicted last month of sexually abusing two young girls was sentenced Friday to 25 years in prison.

Charles Nash, 36, of the 1700 block of Edison Avenue, had been convicted Aug. 17 of two counts of aggravated sexual assault for sex acts committed in 1987 with two girls, then 6 and 8. Nash had dated the children's mother.

Nash had made them watch pornographic movies and then perform sex acts, had beaten them and threatened to kill them and their mother if they told what he did. The alleged acts took place over a three-month period.

Nash wept and denied the charges before being sentenced by Circuit Judge Andy Matocian, saying he was set up by

Board of Governors tuition stable

For the first time since 1979 tuition rates for the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities (BOG) will not rise above the previous year's rates. This is due to funding made available through the increase in the state income tax in Illinois.

"Over the past decade tuition for the five BOG universities has risen from $510 to $1,572 for an academic year," said BOG Chancellor Thomas D. Layzell. "Inadequate state funding and rising costs led to the increases."

"Governor Thompson and the legislature have recognized that increased funding must be provided to education. Although the current income tax increase is temporary, it still puts us on the road to recovery. It will be necessary to make the tax increase permanent if the recovery is to be complete," Layzell added.

The income tax increase allocates just over $214 million dollars to the BOG. This is 12.7 percent over the Fiscal Year 1989 budget and comes close to the amount originally recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education. With the additional new money the BOG will be able to address critical issues that have not been funded since 1987.

The BOG will use the additional resources to improve the quality of undergraduate education by providing faculty to restore 823 course sections which were dropped from their schedules last year due to the universities' inability to fund faculty positions to teach the classes.

Since the BOG universities have a strong historical link to the state's elementary and secondary schools, the added funds will permit the universities to strengthen their ties with them.

Programs such as Partners for Renewal and Improvement of Metropolitan Education at Northwestern Illinois University will be moved forward as will the state's satellite education system initiated at Western Illinois University in Macomb.

Another major objective of the BOG is to enhance programs for minority students. The BOG enrolls nearly 40 percent of all minorities attending public universities in the state of Illinois. The BOG also plans to enhance the economic development of the state through programs with small businesses.

The BOG serves 45,000 students combined at its five universities: Chicago State University, Chicago; Eastern Illinois University, Charleston; Governors State University, University Park; Northeastern Illinois University, Western Illinois University, Macomb.

Scholarship agency gets different name

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission's name has been changed to the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC). Gov. James R. Thompson signed the name change into law Aug. 13.

"Our new name conveys our main objective of assisting students seek a postsecondary education," said ISAC Executive Director Larry Maki. "In addition, the new name better represents the diversity of our 12 financial assistance programs designed to provide choice and access for students pursuing their education."

Now in its fourth decade of service, ISAC administers loan, grant and scholarship programs. During the 1988-89 school year, more than a quarter-of-a-million students received nearly one-half billion dollars through the financial aid programs administered by ISAC. ISAC awarded nearly 97,000

Monetary Award Program (MAP) grants to needy students in the past year, making MAP the second largest need-based state grant program in the nation. The average MAP grant was nearly $1,400. And since issuing its first guarantee on a student loan in 1966, ISAC has guaranteed more than $4 billion in student loans.

As requested by the governor and approved by the General Assembly, ISAC will pursue the development of a new college savings program to encourage parents of relatively young children to save for future college costs by investing on a long-term basis.

Thompson amends transit district's funding

Gov. James R. Thompson signed into law Sept. 1 a new law, House Bill 1616, which amends the Downstate Public Transportation Act, enabling the Transit Districts of Madison and St. Clair counties to directly receive financial assistance from the state of Illinois.

By this action, the districts will now receive funding for public transportation in the same manner as all other downstate transit districts covered under the Act.

According to Madison County Transit Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, the change in legislation was sought as a means to bring all state and local public funding for transit together under the

'It ...puts control of state and local tax funds for transit where it rightfully belongs — with the Madison and St. Clair districts.'

Nellie Hagnauer

direct control of the transit districts, "assuring accountability to the taxpayers of the Metro East area."

"It is responsible legislation which maintains, not increases, the state's level of assistance for transit to our area and puts control of state and local tax funds for transit where it rightfully belongs — with the Madison and St. Clair districts."

HB 1616, amending the Downstate Act, was introduced in the House by Rep. Jim McPike and co-sponsored by Reps. Monroe Flinn, Sam Wolf and Ron Stephens. In the Senate, the bill was sponsored by Sen. Frank Watson and co-sponsored by Sens. Sam Vadala and Ken Hall.

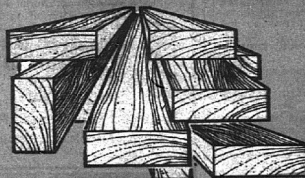

The amendment was passed this session without a dissenting vote. "The staunch, bi-partisan support from our area legislators for this amendment was a very important factor in the bill's passage and we wish to express our sincere gratitude for that support," Hagnauer said.

"The importance of this legislation to our area was widely recognized."

The bill was endorsed by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, the Leadership Council, the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors, the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission and the County Boards of Madison and St. Clair counties.

Van Buskirk's injury inspires Warriors to win over Quincy

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

QUINCY There are times when Gene Baker sees his players stop paying attention. Maybe seeing some blood spill from their top player is what it takes to regain attention. That seemed to be the case Saturday. The Warriors were losing control of the game until John Van Buskirk went down hard after a collision early in the fourth quarter. While Van Buskirk recuperated on the bench, Sean Bain scored the winner with 13:31 left as Granite City topped Quincy 9-2 at Flinn Stadium. The Warriors were 5-3-1 heading into Tuesday's home game against Belleville West, while the Blue Devils fell to 1-4. That includes three games lost due to a teachers' strike which ended earlier in the week.

"It's hard to tell what motivates this team sometimes," said Baker. "But John showed what kind of a player he is. I thought it was a bad foul. He came back in after a couple of minutes and played better than he had before."

With 15:24 left, Van Buskirk went down in a heap near mid-field and stayed for several minutes, his nose a bloody mess. While he lay on the bench, the Warriors broke a 2-2 tie. Jay Robertson made a nice run down the left side almost to the goal line, then centered the ball to Bain at the edge of the goal. Bain easily headed the ball past Blue Devil keeper Scott Larson. "We're weak at the wing fullback position and that showed up on a couple of their goals," said Quincy coach Matt Longo, who is 34-9-5 in two seasons. "Twice we let them get too much room on the left side." Van Buskirk returned shortly thereafter and helped kill out the remaining seconds by controlling the ball in the Quincy end of the field.

"Mel (Bunting) was a little concerned about having John keep the ball there, because that's when you can get a kid hurt," said Baker. "But the way John is, their guys might be in trouble, too." Outside of Van Buskirk's injury, there was plenty more physical play, although only one yellow card was issued, that going to the Blue Devils.

"It's always very physical up here," Baker said. "They have a good, physical team which will get better. Quincy will be in the state tournament this year." "We're still a young team and our guys go in and make some hard tackles at the wrong times," said Longo. "But there will be lots of highs and lows. Not only did we lose three games, but we missed 14 practices to the strike. We will show some experience." Coming off a good effort against CBC, the Warriors wasted little time Saturday. Robertson got his fourth goal of the year at 2:15 on a nice passing play with Van Buskirk and Bain. Bain got the assist as Robertson's high shot from the left wing bounced off Larson's hands, off the post and in. Van Buskirk got his sixth goal at 8:36 off an assist by Chad Lignoul. Lignoul lofted a free kick in from the right side and Van Buskirk, one of the area's most effective players in the air, out-leaped everyone for it and headed it past Larson. It stayed that way until the Blue Devils, who beat Springfield Southeast 4-0 just 24 hours

Spikers give Buster first varsity win

By Mike Kelly

GRANITE CITY — If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. The Lady Warriors (1-4) finally handed head coach Natalie Buster her first career win on the varsity level by dumping Wood River 3-15, 15-13 and 15-6 on Monday at Memorial Gymnasium.

"The desire to win was there," said Buster. "Our serving was much better because we concentrated more. The girls were more relaxed playing at home. And you could see it in their eyes how badly they wanted to win this game."

Following a convincing loss in game one, Granite City suddenly found the right formula. But the turnaround in game two didn't go without its anxious moments.

The Lady Warriors let a 10-4 lead slip away as Wood River rallied off eight unanswered points, taking a 12-10 lead. But the serving of Diana Brandt, Jennifer Harris and Priscilla Meyenburg allowed Granite City to outscore the Oilers 5-1 down the stretch to win the game.

"Control was the key in game two," said Buster. "When Wood River made that run at us, I called a timeout and told our girls that the task was up to them. They came back out, maintained their composure and rallied to win the contest."

Granite City carried that momentum into the final game and nailed down its first win of the year. Trailing 4-2, the Lady Warriors ran off a 12-point streak that put the contest away. Meyenburg and Amey Bohnenstiel contributed nine points in the run.

"Amey set very well for us, while Priscilla and Carrie Bohnenstiel gave me a super effort around the net," said Buster. "This by far was their best effort of the year. And if this is one of the better games they can give me, I'm anxious to see

Warrior harriers 6th at Edwardsville

By Mike Kelly
Correspondent

EDWARDSVILLE — It's not how fast you run, but how you finish that counts.

East St. Louis Lincoln had its usual day at the office, winning both the boys and girls competition at the 24th annual Edwardsville Cross Country Invitational on Saturday. But playing second fiddle to the Tigers/Tigerettes didn't concern many of the area coaches, who were pleased with their results.

The meet was held on the 5000-meter college course at SIUE. And teams such as Granite City, O'Fallon, Collinsville and Triad turned in some splendid performances.

But the meet also suffered a setback when Beth Hays of Collinsville collapsed during the varsity girls race. Hays, among the leaders, fell down at the three-mile mark, only one meter shy of the finish line. She was taken to Oliver Anderson Hospital in Maryville for observation. "On a cool day like today, runners tend not to drink as much," said Collinsville coach Chuck Wescoat. "And that tends to put an extra strain on the body to produce fluids. Beth did feel a little sick on Friday night and she worked very hard at practice this week. It could just be dehydration, but we'll take the proper precautions with her."

Granite City put together another fine performance, placing sixth in the boys race. That followed a sixth in the Mt. Vernon Invitational and a seventh in their own invitational. Lance Reynolds was the Warriors' top finisher, placing 12th in a time of 17:28.

"We're just getting into the heart of our season, and we must continue running as well as we can," said Granite City coach Dave McClain. "Lance is our bread and butter runner. But our No. 2 through No. 5 runners much bunch up a little better for us to be effective. If they can run under 18 minutes and be within 15 to 20 seconds of each other, we'll be in pretty good shape."

The Collinsville boys team put on a decent effort, placing seventh in the 15-team field. Andy Krause had the best finish among the Kahoks, finishing 27th with a time of 18:01. But while the Kahoks failed to register any medal winners, Wescoat thought his team pulled together well.

"I'm a little disappointed we didn't win any individual medals," he said. "But really the only race that matters is the regional. And all we want to do until then is focus on a team effort."

"Our runners are beginning to get into shape. They're getting more dedicated to their running assignments. And for the first time this year, you could see the

September slide could cost two Cardinals major awards

The Cardinals' biggest losers in the team's fall out of the National League East race were Joe Magrane and Pedro Guerrero.

If the Cardinals had stayed in the race until the end, whether the team won it or not, it would have meant a better chance for Magrane to win the Cy Young Award and Guerrero to win the Most Valuable Player award.

Magrane seemed like the leading candidate for the Cy Young two weeks ago, but that was before he went four straight starts without a win, including two games in which he was pounded. Now, even if he comes back and finishes with 20 victories, the best Magrane likely can hope for is a second-place finish behind Houston Astros ace Mike Scott.

Guerrero would have had a hard time beating out the San Francisco Giants' duo of Kevin Mitchell or Will Clark for the MVP award, no matter how valuable he has been to the Cardinals. But now, with the team doing a dramatic slide out of contention, Guerrero likely won't get enough votes to finish any higher than third.

Guerrero could not have been expected to carry the Cardinals for the entire stretch run, especially at the pace he established in August and the first week of September, but what hurt him and the team the most is that when he went into his slump, nobody was there to pick him up.

The trade between the Chicago Cubs and San Diego Padres that brought Luis Salazar and Marvyn Wynne to Chicago meant that every National League team has made at least one trade since the Cardinals' last deal, acquiring Matt Thompson from the Phillies in February.

In a way, the Cardinals' slump should make them a better team. It will force management

On Baseball

By Rob Rains

to realize the team — as it is — is not good enough to win, and convince them that trades will have to be made over the winter. If the Cardinals had hung in the race until the end, and maybe had won, there would have been a tendency not to shake the team up as much as is really necessary.

The name that is most frequently mentioned as the player most likely to depart is Vince Coleman.

Coleman has fallen out of favor with manager Whitey Herzog this year, and the Cardinals would appear to have the depth necessary to trade an outfielder. Coleman would likely bring more in return than Willie McGee because of age, salary and McGee's inability to stay healthy all season.

The Cardinals also are convinced they need a player batting in the leadoff position who is more capable of driving in runs than Coleman. Every time a batter gets on in the bottom of the order, the pitcher bunts him over and the leadoff hitter is presented with a chance to drive in a run.

Coleman had just 27 RBIs in more than 500 at-bats entering the week, not an acceptable total. Since his stolen base total also has declined and he has failed to improve his defense, it would appear likely he will be playing for another team in 1990.

One possible target for the Cardinals' new leadoff hitter: Pittsburgh outfielder Barry Bonds.

When Donald Fehr and Mark Belanger of the Players Association met with the Cardinals last week, they revealed that part of the owners' initial proposal in the upcoming negotiations includes a salary structure.

What the owners would like to do is take all of the players, breaking them into four different groups, and establish criteria that would determine their salary.

"They would just feed all the information into a computer and it would tell you what the player would get paid," said one Cardinal player.

If the players were to accept that arrangement, it effectively would eliminate arbitration. And that's why there is no chance the players will go along with that proposal.

The Cardinals' paid crowd of 1,519 for last Thursday's makeup game came on the same date, Sept. 14, as the second-largest crowd in Busch Stadium history. On Sept. 14, 1975, the Cardinals honored Bob Gibson and had a paid crowd of 50,548. The small crowd will hurt the Cardinals' average attendance, but it won't cost them a chance to reach 3 million. It still appears that is going to happen, unless droves of people who already have tickets stay away from the remaining games.

TRADITION: The 1989 edition of the Rookies baseball team which won the Granite City Park District Midget II championship (see Sept. 10 issue) continues a winning tradition. Over the past 30 years, the United Steel Workers Local 16 has sponsored the Rookies. Howard "Lefty" Harris formed the first team in 1960 and managed the first two generations. At left is the 1980 team which took second place in the state Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament. The team also went 8-1-1 in the park's juvenile league. Team members include, front row left to right, Emmert Dennberg, Jim Cant, Marty LeVault, Gerald DeMontmellon, Dave Sortor and Kenny Tally. Back row, coach Bill Minks, Lloyd what the near future can bring.

"But this win was very important for me and the girls. I really wanted this game because Wood River is a well-coached team. The girls practiced very hard over the weekend to prepare for tonight."

"But despite our slow start, our confidence wasn't down. These kids are aggressive and want to play the game. Sure, they were a little upset with the way we started the season. And yet they were always looking forward to the next game and the challenge it would bring."

"I don't think it was what Granite City did as compared to what we didn't do," said Wood River coach Sandy Magurany. "We had a chance to win that second game, which would have given us the match. But we missed on too many opportunities and gave away too many points."

"That's been our problem all year. We start out well, but we tend to get inconsistent as the game goes on. It's the mark of a young team. We only have one starter back from last year."

Sophomore Casey Warren was a good example of Wood River's inconsistency. After racking up six points from the setter position in game one, she only scored two more times the rest of the night.

"Casey is only a sophomore, and like a lot of our girls isn't used to the pressure," said Magurany. "When things get tight, our lack of experience makes it hard for us to get over the hump."

Making the victory even sweeter was the fact that Granite City won the game without its best player, senior Michelle Bequette. She injured her right ankle in practice when she went up to block a shot and landed the wrong way. The injury is being treated on a day-to-day basis. "I'm excited to win the game without her," said Buster. "Michelle is a consistent player for us most of the time. But I had confidence in the other girls to pick up the slack." NOTES: The junior varsity didn't have the same success, losing to Wood River 4-15, 15-9 and 5-15. The JV is now 1-4...The Lady Warriors traveled to Belleville West for a Southwestern Conference game on Tuesday. Results of that game will be in Thursday's Press-Record.

guys pulling for one another while putting their personal rivalries aside. I'm very pleased."

Triad also put together a profitable invitational, taking home five medals. Rick Vanmeter paced the Knights, placing 11th with a time of 17:24. Anne Higgins and Melinda Davis led the girls, earning medals by finishing 24th and 25th, respectively.

O'Fallon also did well. The girls team finished second, only 10 points behind Lincoln, and the boys placed fifth. The Panthers had five medal winners. The impressive effort was accomplished without O'Fallon's top runner, Ryan Frazier, who missed the meet with a lower back spasm.

Rose Zagorski (fourth place) finished in a time of 20:20 and John Henson (16th in 17:36) picked up the slack.

"The girls ran quite a race for us," said O'Fallon coach Richard "Foz" Ryan. "We paced ourselves very well today on this college course. But I really feel our team is designed to run on a course like this."

Edwardville coach Jim Price, who put the invitational together, had mixed feelings about his Tigers. The boys finished eighth and the girls placed seventh.

And the Tigers were also missing Max Kyle, their foreign exchange student from West Germany, who was told by his coach overseas to take a couple of weeks off.

"I really have some mixed feelings right now," said Price. "We could have been more productive."

Stephen Hornberger paced the boys, finishing sixth with a time of 17:09. But Price felt he could have finished higher.

"Stephen ran well, but faded near the end," he said. "He could have finished third, but he needs more endurance. But to be honest, a lot of our runners need more conditioning. They didn't do much work during the summer, and that's put them behind."

"I feel all right about the girls, because our top five runners have the capabilities to qualify for the sectional. But the boys, finishing behind Granite City and Collinsville, tells me we need some room for improvement. We have the talent to finish above those teams. I'm not pleased with the effort."

after the strike ended, came alive in the third quarter. Outonsak Seangmany scored twice to tie the game.

He outmuscled two Warrior defenders down the left side and beat Ron O'Shia with a high shot at 41:38. Then Seangmany was left unmarked right in front at 53:51 and headed Mike O'Brien's centering pass past O'Shia.

"We did some things well," said Longo. "If we can play like we did in the third quarter, we can be a very good team."

"We just haven't learned how to play a whole game yet," said Baker. "We had a great first half, then let them get back in it. It has nothing to do with conditioning. They just seem to have a lack of attention and lose control. We had a good half with CBC. If we had played as well in the second half we could have gotten a tie or a win.

"There's a lot of ball watching. We'll drift away from our mark to follow the ball and get burned."

The Warriors came on towards the end of the quarter as Van Buskirk and Bain had good chances before Bain won it in the fourth quarter.

"This was Sean's best game," said Baker. "He's one who has had trouble playing the whole game."

Baker gave Brent Broshaw a day off and gave O'Shia some playing time against a good team.

"Ronnie needed to see some action," Baker said. "He did pretty well, although he probably came off the line a little too soon on the second goal."

NOTES: The Warrior junior varsity beat Quincy 2-0.

Peugeot 505 wagons provide sedan-like handling, comfort

Peugeot's five- and eight-passenger 505 station wagons combine sedan-like handling, comfort and performance with function and safety.

Two five-passenger station wagons, the 160-horsepower Peugeot 505 Turbo and the naturally aspirated 505 DL, have more cargo capacity than any other European wagon.

For comfort and safety, the eight-passenger 505 Turbo SWB and SWB 2.2i feature a factory-installed, forward-facing third row of seats with lap and shoulder belts.

While most wagons are built on sedan-style platforms, the Peugeot 505 station wagon has a wheelbase that is 6 inches longer than the 505 sedan's, resulting in an exceptionally smooth ride and maximum cargo space.

An electronic waste-gate control developed from Peugeot's twice-World-Champion Turbo 16 rally car optimizes power and torque on the 160-horsepower Peugeot 505 Turbo and Turbo SWB.

The naturally aspirated Peugeot 505 DL and 505 SWB 2.2i have an electronically fuel-injected, four-cylinder, overhead-cam engine that delivers 120 horsepower.

The suspension system in the Peugeot 505 station wagon can support a total weight of 4,500 pounds without sacrificing road handling, driving comfort or stability.

MacPherson struts, with coil springs and Peugeot's own double-acting, eight-valve shock absorbers, and an anti-dive bar are up front.

The rear suspension has a light-alloy live axle, variable-rate coil springs, which compensate for heavy loads, and an anti-sway bar.

Standard features that enhance active safety and help drivers avoid an accident include power, rack-and-pinion steering for quick and precise response, a limited-slip differential for increased traction on slippery roads, power front disc brakes and 10-inch rear drums.

The load-sensing rear braking system automatically apportions braking pressure between the front and rear wheels, minimizing rear wheel lockup when the car is lightly loaded down.

The 505 station wagon is designed for crashworthiness from any angle, Peugeot says. The car's all-steel unit-body construction combines the chassis and body frame into a single, impact-absorbing, rattle-free shell. The extra-strong A, B and C pillars support the reinforced roof easily in the event of a roll-over.

The front and rear "crumple zones" absorb impact at a controlled rate.

The doors are specially reinforced with lateral supports that also absorb impact.

In the engine compartment, special jam hooks make it virtually impossible for the hood to fly open.

The engine mounts drop down under impact, directing the engine underneath the passenger area while absorbing energy from the impact.

Every 1989 Peugeot comes with a three-year/36,000-mile bumper-to-bumper limited warranty, a five-year/50,000-mile powertrain limited warranty with no deductible and a free three-year membership in the Peugeot Roadside Assistance Plan, with 24-hour access to more than 14,000 AAA service centers nationwide.

SNACK ATTACK

Moderation Pivotal When Munchies Hit

By Lynn Venhaus
Journal Staff Writer

They cry out from every where: small sacks of salty chips in vending machines, gooey goodies from the supermarket bakery, creamy ice cream and candy combinations delivered through the drive-up window. It's a sad but true fact of life: bad-for-you junk food is accessible while good-for-you edibles take time to prepare. What's a healthy human to do?

For starters, you need not let a snack attack thwart your sensible efforts to win the battle of the bulge. Snacking is, after all, an all-American habit. Old habits are hard to break, but with a little advance preparation you can fend off the Munchie Monster.

Yes, there is snacking without guilt. More good news—nutritionists are now recommending frequent mini-meals rather than three heavy meals each day. Some people refer to this as grazing.

The following recipes fit today's active lifestyles. The snacks are simple enough to put together in short order—popcorn, cheese and crackers, dips, spreads, sweets, ices and conserve.

They satisfy sweet cravings with healthy ingredients such as dried fruits and nuts. You get your crunch and fiber, too. The nibbles here are not necessarily sodium and fat. They offer more nutrition than empty calories. For instance, almonds are an excellent source of vegetable protein, vitamin E and iron, with beneficial monounsaturated fat. So, go ahead. Munch in moderation—midmorning, midafternoon and midnight.

Middle Eastern Eggplant Dip

- 1 medium eggplant (about 1 1/4 lb.), unpeeled
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup whole natural almonds, toasted
1/4 cup olive oil
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 tsp. ground cumin
Pepper, to taste
1/4 cup chopped parsley
24 thick or thin style crispbread

Cut eggplant into 2-inch cubes. Place in 8-inch square glass baking dish. Toss with salt. Cover and microwave on High power about 8 minutes. (Or, cook according to conventional oven directions below.) Remove from oven; place eggplant in colander to drain and cool. Grind almonds in blender or food processor with metal blade in place. Add cooled eggplant, olive oil, lemon juice, garlic and cumin; process until smooth. Season with pepper to taste. Stir in chopped parsley. Spoon dip into serving bowl. Place crispbreads around dip to serve. Makes 12 servings.

*Conventional oven method: Place eggplant cubes in 9-by-13-inch baking pan. Toss with salt. Cover pan with foil. Bake at 350° for 30 to 40 minutes, until eggplant is soft.

Note: Middle Eastern Eggplant Dip may be made up to 1 week in advance. Store in an airtight container in the refrigerator.

Grilled Greek-Style Sandwiches

- 1/2 cup part-skim milk ricotta cheese
1/2 cup crumbled feta cheese
1/4 cup sliced natural almonds, toasted
1 tbsp. thinly sliced green onions
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. oregano
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
8 thick style crispbreads
Green and red bell pepper rings

Combine all ingredients except crispbreads and peppers in small mixing bowl; mix until well-blended. Spread 2 tablespoons cheese mixture evenly on each crispbread. Place on baking sheet. Broil 4 inches from heat source, 1 minute. Remove from heat and serve at once, topped with pepper rings. Makes 8 servings.

Apple Fig Conserve

- 3 cups apple juice
2 cups chopped Calimyrna figs
1 medium Granny Smith apple, chopped
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tsp. whole cloves
24 ultra thin or rye-bran style crispbreads

Combine all ingredients except crispbreads in medium saucepan. Bring to boil. Simmer, stirring occasionally, 20 to 25 minutes, until mixture is thick and fruit is very soft. Remove from heat; pour conserve into sterilized jars and cool. Chill until ready to serve. To serve, spread Apple Fig Conserve on crispbreads or toast. Makes 12 servings (3 cups conserve).

Figgy Caramel Almond Crunch

- 3 qt. popped popcorn
2 cups granola cereal
1 cup coarsely chopped Black Mission figs
1 cup whole natural almonds, toasted
1/2 cup margarine
1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 tsp. baking soda

Toss together popcorn, granola cereal, figs and almonds in large mixing bowl. Melt margarine in heavy saucepan. Stir in corn syrup and brown sugar. Bring to rolling boil; boil 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla and baking soda. Pour caramel over popcorn mixture in bowl; toss to coat evenly. Turn popcorn mixture onto baking sheets. Bake at 300° for 20 minutes, stirring halfway through. Remove from oven; loosen on pan and cool. Store in airtight containers. Makes 12 servings.

Hit the Trail Mix

- 2 cups raisins
1/2 cup peanuts
1/2 cup cashews
1/2 cup dried chopped apricots
1/4 cup banana chips
1 1/2 cups sesame cracker sticks

In large bowl, combine all ingredients. Store in tightly covered container. Makes 5 1/2 cups.

Nutty Honey Ice

- 1 1/2 cups lowfat milk
3 egg yolks, lightly beaten
1/2 cup honey
1 cup plain lowfat yogurt
1/2 cup coarsely chopped Calimyrna figs
1/2 cup whole natural almonds, toasted and chopped

Heat milk to scalding in heavy saucepan, over low heat, until mixture coats the back of a spoon. Do not let custard boil. Remove from heat; stir in honey. Cool. Blend in yogurt. Pour custard mixture into ice cream freezer and freeze according to manufacturer's directions. When mixture is almost firm, stir in figs and almonds. Continue to churn until firm. Makes 4 servings (1 qt.).

Apple Snack Stacks

- 4 medium apples
4 tbsp. peanut butter

Wash and core apples. Fill center of each apple with about 1 tablespoon peanut butter, packing gently. Wrap tightly in plastic wrap; refrigerate 30 minutes to set filling. Slice each apple crosswise into 1/4-inch slices. Rewrap apples tightly and refrigerate until serving time. Makes 4 servings.

Coconut Coasties

- 3 cups coconut
1 lb. loaf prepared angel food cake, cut into 2-inch cubes
2 cartons (8-oz. each) pineapple yogurt

Place coconut in shallow dish. Dip cake squares into yogurt, coating all sides. Roll in coconut, coating completely. Place 3 cubes on each metal skewer. Place skewers on grill 4 to 6 inches from low to medium coals. Cook 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned on all sides, turning frequently. Makes 8 servings.

Note: For ease in slicing, freeze angel food cake slightly.

Smothered Sandwiches

- 8 oz. light cream cheese
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. dill weed
6 thick or rye-bran style crispbreads
6 thin slices lean smoked ham (about 1/4 lb.)
6 Calimyrna figs, sliced
1 cup sliced cucumber rounds
Fresh dill sprigs, optional

Mix together cream cheese, lemon juice and dill weed. Cream cheese mixture may be made in advance and stored, tightly covered, up to 1 week in refrigerator.

To assemble sandwiches, spread 2 tablespoons cream cheese mixture on each crispbread. Top each with 1 slice ham, 1 sliced fig and 3 to 4 slices cucumber. Garnish with dill, if desired. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

INGREDIENTS LIKE FRESH VEGETABLES, spices and reduced-sodium soy sauce perk up the flavor of fish for a touch of seafood without salty flavors.

Sodium takes healthy dive when foods are low in salt

Low-sodium diets have proven helpful in controlling high blood pressure in salt-sensitive people.

Reducing sodium in meals is getting easier. A wide variety of sodium-free and reduced-sodium foods are on the market, while nutrition labeling provides useful information on the sodium content of many processed foods. The National Research Council recommends that a "safe and adequate" level of sodium consumption for adults is between 1,100 and 3,300 milligrams a day.

Best of all, reduced sodium levels in foods does not mean reduced flavor. Salt is popular both to flavor or to enhance flavor, but many other seasonings are available to perform these functions.

Poached Fish Peking

2 tbsp. reduced-sodium soy sauce
6 tsp. dry sherry or low-sodium beef broth
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. peanut or vegetable oil
3 cloves garlic, finely minced
2 scallions, finely minced
1/2 tsp. ginger
1 lb. fish fillets, fresh, or frozen and thawed
2 cups chopped frozen or fresh vegetables (broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, green pepper or other combination)

Combine soy sauce, sherry and sugar in small bowl. Mix well.

Heat oil in wok or large skillet over high heat. Swirl to cover bottom and sides. When oil is hot, add garlic, scallions and ginger. Stir over high heat about 30 seconds.

Add soy sauce mixture and fish. Reduce heat to low. Simmer gently, covered, 10 to 12 minutes, turning fish once.

Place chopped vegetables on top of fish. Continue cooking covered, 6 to 8 minutes, until vegetables are tender-crisp and fish is thoroughly cooked but not overdone.

Makes 4 servings, 180 to 205 calories and 5 to 6 g. fat each.

FRESH APPLES are sweet, but muffins dredged to become like doughnuts are even sweeter.

Muffin ecstasy in cinnamon-apple

It is time to salute a quintessential American food—the apple.

Working an orchard is not an easy job. Like other agricultural tasks, the work is hard and the hours long. All the people who enjoy fresh, crunchy, juicy apples may not always realize it, but they know how to share their delicious results morning, noon and night.

Here are a couple adaptations of favorite recipes from the orchards.

Baked Apple Doughnuts

- 3 cups flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 3/4 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. grated orange peel
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup (about 6 oz.) grated golden delicious apple

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, orange peel and nutmeg. Cut in butter with pastry blender.

Combine apple, yogurt and eggs. Stir into flour mixture. Spoon into greased muffin tins. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

Remove from muffin tins. Roll in melted butter, then in Cinnamon-Sugar mixture.

Makes about 2 dozen; 217 calories, 2.7 gm. protein, 10.2 gm. fat, 29.1 gm. carbohydrate, 7 gm. fiber, 49 mg. cholesterol and 227 mg. sodium each.

Cinnamon-Sugar: Combine 3/4 cup sugar with 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Mix well. Makes about 3/4 cup.

Quick-to-fix heart healthy recipes steal show for quick meals to go

By Janice Denham
Journal Food Editor

The 1989 Healthy Heart Food Festival Contest may be printing the last of the winners, but its enjoyment is just beginning.

Tried and true recipes that are delicious, nutritious and, what is more, easy to prepare are real friends in this busy world that relies on quick eating satisfaction. So this trio of winners, all in the quick-to-make mode with many ingredients already on hand, will become recipes that come to meals again and again.

While these recipes were submitted for specific categories, each can be used as versatile ideas that span the day or season.

This quick 'n' easy contest was sponsored by the St. Louis Chapter of the American Heart Association, National Super Markets and Suburban Journals as part of American Heart's annual Food Festival.

Peggy O'Brien, Chesterfield, submitted the Fruit Spread recipe in the after-school snack category. The mixture takes only five minutes to make and keeps indefinitely in the refrigerator. It can be used just as well for Sunday brunch or a lunch box specialty. A variety of fruit naturally sweetens it. Its consistency is perfect for keeping and enjoyment.

Heart-Healthy Club Sandwich—submitted by Beverly G. Boedeker, Edwardsville, Ill.—is an easy favorite for the brown bag category. It draws on a nutritious assortment of deli meats and cheeses now available for even health enthusiasts, using low-fat and low-cholesterol varieties. The combination will be worthy of a second-glance as a deli specialty.

For a special occasion dessert, Fresh Apple Cake was chosen the winner. A perfect choice for these seasonal beauties, the cake—submitted by Rebecca Wagner, St. Louis—goes together quickly because the apples do not need peeling. Lightly seasoned, the cake would make its way to any event. Use pecan halves for a decorative topping, instead of chopped in the cake, to avoid extra calories and fuss with frosting.

Classical Greek beef gyros come to dinner as heroes

Mexico has tacos, China has egg rolls and Japan has sushi. Every country has a favorite "fun food" that is as fun to assemble as it is to eat. Quick 'N Easy Beef Gyros, a 1-2-3 version of the popular Greek classic, can turn even a weeknight meal into a do-it-yourself, fun-food extravaganza.

Traditionally, gyros (pronounced YEE-row)—pita bread rounds brimming with seasoned pressed meat that is slow-grilled on a vertical rotisserie—are hours in the making.

However, a convenient version of this classic sandwich can be prepared and assembled in less than 25 minutes when cooked beef is used. For maximum convenience when preparing this speedy supper specialty, plan ahead and save a portion of last night's roast or, on the way home from work pick up deli roast beef. Quickly slice the beef in slices 1/4-inch thick, then into bite-size 1-inch strips.

Next, yogurt, chopped cucumber and dill weed are combined to make a tempting and tangy sauce, suitable even for gyro aficionados. While the sauce chills, the onion slices, beef strips, garlic salt and oregano can be cooked.

All that is left is the fun part, the assembly. Let each gyro-hungry diner cut the pita leaves in halves and fill them with equal portions of the savory meat, yogurt sauce and chopped tomatoes. In minutes, a Greek sandwich supper is served with all the comforts of home.

Quick 'N Easy Beef Gyros

1/4 cup plain low-fat yogurt
2 tbsp. finely chopped cucumber
Pinch dill weed
6 oz. cooked beef, sliced 1/4 inch thick, then cut in 1-inch strips

1 1/2 tsp. oil
1 medium onion, cut in thin slices, separated in rings
1/4 tsp. garlic salt (1/2 tsp. if deli beef is used)
Pinch oregano leaves
2 loaves pita bread, warmed
1 small tomato, chopped

Combine yogurt, cucumber and dill weed. Cover. Refrigerate.

Heat oil in large nonstick frying pan over medium-high heat 2 minutes. Cook onions, stirring, 2 minutes.

Add cooked beef strips, garlic salt and oregano. Cook, stirring, 4 minutes.

Cut each pita bread in half. Open to make pocket. Place equal amount of meat mixture, yogurt sauce and tomatoes in each pocket.

Makes 2 servings; 431 calories, 33 gm. protein, 13 gm. fat, 43 gm. carbohydrate, 902 mg. sodium, 78 mg. cholesterol each.

FELINE LEUKEMIA VIRUS

Feline leukemia virus (FeLV) could be lurking in the shadows waiting for any unsuspecting kitten or cat. Although this disease was unknown until 20 years ago, FeLV is now a leading cause of death in pet cats. There are 1 million cats in the U.S. that have an active form of the infection. Once the cat gets the virus in their system it can take anywhere from 2 weeks to 3 years for symptoms to develop. About 80% of these cats will die within 5 years from the disease. FeLV has not been transmitted to humans, but it is transferred easily from cat to cat. It is spread mainly in the saliva, but is also in urine and feces. Stray cats are a source of the problem of spreading the disease. The disease is more common in homes with several cats and in cats allowed to roam free. Kittens, old, or sick cats are more susceptible because of their poor immune system.

Some major symptoms to watch for include weight loss, loss of appetite, decreased activity, respiratory problems and pale gums.

Vaccination is the single most important step cat owners can take to protect their pets. There is no known cure for FeLV once a cat becomes infected. Your cat can be tested for the disease with a simple blood test and vaccinated if found negative by your veterinarian. Call your local veterinary office for more information about this deadly disease; they'll be glad to help.

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND stars as the courageous and beautiful Melanie Hamilton in "Gone With the Wind." Photo is courtesy of Citadel Press, publishers of the book "The Films of Olivia de Havilland."

Olivia De Havilland has same ideals as the characters she plays on film

By Dell Chubb
Staff writer

With her serene beauty, Olivia de Havilland could have settled for rapid, pretty girl roles — some more fun than others. But instead, de Havilland, who is probably best remembered for her portrayal of Melanie Hamilton in "Gone With the Wind," chose to shun the stereotyping and portray courageous characters who reflected her own high standards.

"I was encouraged to try out for Scarlett O'Hara, but I saw Melanie as a chance to bring to life the ideals of the time, ideals of steadfastness and loyalty that were also my own."

Although Scarlett was a strong personality, Melanie performed many of the selfless, heroic deeds, she said.

"But after all, it was Melanie who, though weakened by a difficult childbirth and with her innate modesty, assisted Scarlett in wrapping the slain Confederate soldier in her nightgown below the stairs of Tara. And it was Melanie who sought funds from the socially unacceptable Belle Watling for the Confederacy."

"Also, it was only Melanie who could reach Rhett when he had barricaded himself in the room with his daughter, Bonnie Blue's body."

Although de Havilland lost out for Best Supporting Actress to Hattie McDaniel, who played Mammy in "Gone With the Wind," she went on to win two Oscars. Her first in 1946 for "To Each His Own."

The second in 1949 was for "The Heiress," which is one of her favorite roles.

"Here was a woman who learned that neither her father nor the man she loved, respected and loved her in return," said de Havilland, speaking of her character in "The Heiress."

"Through that agony, she found her intelligence, and bolded, literally, the door of her home to both of them, resigning herself to lonely spinsterhood."

Many women wrote me that that part helped them with similar difficult decisions, though quite a few seemed to think bolting the door was going too far."

As children, both de Havilland and her younger sister, Joan Fontaine, were coached by their mother, who taught acting professionally. But it wasn't her acting abilities that captured the attention of Hollywood.

Jack L. Warner, head of Warner Brothers studios, wrote of his first meeting with de Havilland in his book "My First Hundred Years in Hollywood."

"I saw a girl with big, soft brown eyes, a fresh young beauty. She had a voice that was music to my ears. Like a cello, low and vibrant."

She was cast immediately in a film with a luxurious budget of time and money, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

But her beauty later proved to be a liability — it stereotyped her in limp pretty girl parts that were cranked out quickly.
